NO COMPROMISE ON THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

HARDING MAKES KNOWN TO SENATE POSITION ON BILL

ULTIMATUM OF PRESIDENT HAS SPIKED LATEST STRATEGIC ATTEMPTS

OF DEMOCRATS TO REVISE THE MEASURE MORE TO THEIR LIKING

(By United Press)
Washington, Feb. 13—President Harding has let it be known in the senate that he will accept no compromise on the ship subsidy bill.

This ultimatum definitely spiked today the latest strategic attempts of the democrats to revise the measure more to their liking and further complicate congressional situation. The offer of Senator Robinson, democratic leader, for a bill on the bill of Chairman Jones of the commerce committee would accept Madden's amendment which was put in the bill by the house, met no response.

The Madden amendment—which was stricken from the bill by the senate committee—would force the shipping board to come to congress each year for an annual appropriation and would permit the next congress to kill the subsidy by cutting off the appropriation.

President Harding believes this would nullify the entire effect of the subsidy inasmuch as shippers would be reluctant to accept the proposition with a string tied to it so that congress could change it back each year.

Meanwhile the progressives came to the floor in a confused and spectacular battle in the senate. Senator Norris, chairman of the Farm bloc sought a vote on his motion to place the subsidy with a resolution changing the day of inaugurating congress.

Jones will invoke night sessions tomorrow when the senate will begin to sit 12 hours continuously each day. The administration leaders hope to tire the filibusters with this tedious procedure to obtain a vote.

President Changes Mind
Washington, Feb. 13—President Harding is prepared to lay aside the ship subsidy bill to insure passage of British debt funding measure it was indicated today.

Mr. Harding put up to Sen. Jones of Washington the probability of deciding whether to insist on pushing the ship bill at the risk of holding up the British war debt settlement.

Senators Lodge and Watson calling early at the White House told Mr. Harding he could have his choice between the subsidy and debt measures, but that in their opinion he could not get a final vote on both. They urged him to consent to laying the subsidy aside so that passage of the debt legislation could be assured.

Ship Subsidy Sidetracked

Washington, Feb. 13—The administration ship subsidy bill was sidetracked in the senate today in favor of the British debt settlement. The action was taken after party leaders had a conference with President Harding and had revamped the program announced yesterday of considering the two measures concurrently.

The debt bill was called up shortly after noon by Senator McCumber of North Dakota, chairman of the finance committee. Senator Smoot of Utah announced that the subsidy bill would be laid aside by unanimous consent. The bill will be given the right of way today and tomorrow and if it is not passed then, an effort will be made to fix a time for voting on it.

The new program was adopted after Mr. Harding was told that insistence on keeping the subsidy before the senate may prevent passage of the debt bill. He thereupon asked Jones to yield, but left it to Jones to decide. Jones after a conference with other senators agreed to step aside for the time being.

British Parliament Opens in London Today

AMERICAN LEGION ROYALLY ENTERTAINS G. A. R., LADIES AUXILIARIES, SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR VETERANS AT BANQUET

Lincoln's Birthday was brought to a very fitting close Monday evening, when the G. A. R., the ladies' auxiliaries and the Spanish American War Veterans were royally entertained at a banquet giving in the Ransford hotel.

One hundred diners marched into the banquet room to music furnished by the Lions orchestra and sang America before being seated. Past Commander Milton Mahlum presiding during the first part of the supper, turned the program over to R. E. Bemmels who acted as toastmaster.

Commander Arthur Lyndon made the address of welcome individually to the different organizations represented and to the friends who had gathered to honor these guests. He also gave a brief resume of the things for which the American Legion stands.

Albert Fox, commander of the G. A. R., responded in fitting manner, telling of the pride his comrades take in having served under Lincoln. He recalled the services of the soldiers of the Civil War, and the record made by them in returning from the fray without the loss of a single star to the flag.

Tom Wood was introduced humorously as having been an aviator in the late war. He entertained the diners with a number of songs.

Rev. E. A. Cooke, state chaplain of the Spanish War Veterans, spoke as representative of his men, whom he stated had never received much credit for doing their bit. These soldiers had been drilled in southern camps, said Rev. Cooke, and during their stay in the southland had done much to cement a better feeling between the states on either side of the Mason-Dixon line. The Spanish-American War Veterans are still ready and anxious to help in every way possible to promote better citizenship, and to bring about better conditions in the country at large.

Dr. G. I. Badeaux rendered several solos, as did Al Mraz, both gentlemen being in good voice. Mrs. Walter Wieland acted as accompanist in each instance.

County Highway Engineer Walter M. Murphy, who served in the Boer War, gave a toast to the veterans of all wars, "For God, For Home, and For Country."

Stafford King, state adjutant of the American Legion, in an eloquent address, played upon the emotions of his hearers, as he brought out many important facts concerning his organizations.

Mr. King first paid a glowing tribute to Abraham Lincoln, and praised the accomplishments of the Martyred President. He also lauded the work done by the soldiers of the Civil War, a work which he said that

EXODUS OF NEGROES BLAMED TO PEONAGE

WHITES PLAN ECONOMIC CHANGES TO HALT N. W. MOVEMENT BISHOP SAYS

Minneapolis, Feb. 13—The exodus of Negroes to the north is due to an economic peonage in the south which the Negro has come to resent since the war, Bishop Robert E. Jones, New Orleans, the only Negro bishop in the Methodist church, told members of the Methodist Ministers association at the Y. M. C. A. Monday.

In some instances the value of farm lands have decreased 50 per cent as a result of the scarcity of Negro labor, according to Bishop Jones.

As a result, the white man is planning certain economic changes in his relations with the Negro," he said. "This is not due to a change of heart, but because of economic and social necessities.

"There is no way of stopping the exodus. The situation must be met by providing the Negro with the opportunity of working in the places where he is fitted to work, allowing him a decent place in which to live, and giving him such cooperation as will keep him out of the hands of the exploiter of his own and the white races."

GANNA WALSKA IS BACK HOME AGAIN

(By United Press)
Chicago, Feb. 13—Ganna Walska, Polish opera star and bride of Harold F. McCormick, came home through the back door last night.

The singer, whose marriage to McCormick in Paris is not recognized under the Illinois law, as it took place within a year after the divorce of the Harvester king, arrived in Chicago secretly. She was driven to the home of McCormick's mother in Lake Forest, and the back drive was used in an attempt to avoid newspaper men sitting at the front gate. Many reports were circulated that the McCormicks will be remarried during their stay in Chicago in order to come under the Illinois law.

Gets Marriage License
Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 13—Harold F. McCormick obtained a license here today to wed Ganna Walska, Polish song bird.

They had been previously married in France, but the French ceremony was not recognized in Illinois, due to the fact that it occurred within one year after the divorce of McCormick from his first wife, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

McCormick drove up to the court house in his cream colored touring car during a blinding snow storm. He was accompanied by his singer bride, bundled in luxurious furs. Lew Hendee, clerk of Lake county, issued the permit.

MUDANIA PARLEY BROKEN, TURKS ARE CONCENTRATING ARMY

(By United Press)

Athens, Feb. 13—Alarming reports concerning Turkish military activities were received in Athens this afternoon, apparently from reliable sources.

The Turks were reported to have broken the Mudania armistice pact and to have concentrated 35,000 troops in eastern Thrace and were arming 8,000 Bulgarian gendarmes. Movement of munitions and war material from the interior to the Dardanelles is reported in dispatches from Greek sources, in which the Ottoman activity is described as feverish.

The Soviet government is variously reported to have landed important stores of munitions on the eastern coast of Thrace to be used by the Turks.

LOVE NEST HOUSED AFFINITY AND 3 PRETTY CHILDREN

MAYOR ROBERT W. CONNOR, MILLIONAIRE LUMBER KING, IS ARRAIGNED

STATUTORY CHARGES INVOLVES MISS BERTHA GUERTLER, TRIAL SET MARCH 5TH

(By United Press)
Milwaukee, Feb. 13—Mayor Robert W. Connor, millionaire lumber king of Marshfield, Wisconsin, was arraigned in district court here today on statutory charges involving Miss Bertha Guertler, and was granted a continuance of trial until March 5th by Judge Page. Connors appeared in court, but did not take the stand. His attorney, W. T. Brazeau of Wisconsin Rapids, took the stand and asked for a continuance of trial which was granted.

Through his attorney, Connor emphatically denied that he is the phantom "Richard Brown", host in the love nest bungalow in the "Golden Coast" district here, and the father of the three children of Miss Guertler who is known to neighbors as Mrs. "R. W. Brown."

Miss Guertler was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging a similar offense, and was arraigned in district court yesterday and also granted a continuance of trial until March 5th.

After having been sought since Saturday by a Milwaukee county deputy sheriff who had in his possession a warrant for his arrest, Connor walked into the county jail here late yesterday afternoon, and surrendered himself to Sheriff Westfahl. The sheriff and Connor had been "buddy" officers in the 32nd division during the world war.

Connor was immediately arraigned for $1,000 bail and was released. The charges Connor and Miss Guertler are facing originated last fall.

At this time a nurse said to have been formerly in the love nest bungalow here, was assigned to a case at Marshfield. At the nurse's headquarters there she saw a photograph which she at once identified as that of "Mr. Brown". She was corrected in her belief and told that the photo was not that of any Mr. Brown, but that of Mayor Connor, one of the most influential and prominent men in Marshfield. It is said the story was circulated about town and lead later to an investigation by Mrs. Lydia Ritt, formerly of Marshfield, and field secretary of the National Child Conservation League. In fact, she was instrumental in a warrant being sworn out for both parties.

KU KLUX KLAN TO TAKE ACTIVE PART IN RACE FOR MAYOR

MINNEAPOLIS MAN, ROY N. MINER, MAY REPUDIATE THE ENDORSEMENT

CHURCHES TAKING INTEREST IN MINER'S CANDIDACY IN MINNEAPOLIS

The following article appeared in Monday's Minneapolis Journal:

The Ku Klux Klan in Minneapolis is preparing to take an active part in the election of the next mayor.

At two meetings of Klan members last week in Yeoman hall, 703 Third avenue S., endorsement of a candidate was discussed, and the name of Roy N. Miner, 824 West Fifth street, was presented as having the approval of the organization.

Mr. Miner denied Sunday night that he would be a candidate for mayor, although he said that he knew some of his friends had been discussing the possibility of his entering the campaign. He declared emphatically that he is not a member of the Klan, and that he would not run under any endorsement by klansmen.

"Would Repudiate It"

"If I received the endorsement of the Ku Klux Klan I would repudiate it," Mr. Miner said.

Indorsement of a mayoralty candidate was discussed by klansmen at a meeting in Yeoman hall Tuesday, when Miner's name was advanced. Friday night, in the same hall, it was announced at a meeting of Klan members that there would be a meeting Sunday afternoon in Olivet Methodist Episcopal church, East Twenty-sixth street, between Chicago and Columbus avenues, to discuss means of pushing forward a candidate for mayor. Church members present at the Friday night meeting at the hall were instructed to come to the meeting at 3 p. m. Monday, each bringing with him if possible the pastor of his church and two or three friends.

Davis Explains Meeting

Rev. Charles Fox Davis, pastor of Olivet Methodist church and chaplain of the state senate, asked Sunday concerning the meeting, said it was being called to canvass the mayoralty situation.

"Is it true that the meeting is called to endorse Roy N. Miner for mayor?" he was asked.

"Oh I wouldn't want that said today," he replied.

Announcement at the meeting at the Yeoman hall that the mayoralty campaign would be discussed at a meeting late Monday followed formation of a club designed to carry on certain political activities. It was christened the Gull club, and members at last week's meetings addressed one another as "fellow bird."

One report current following the meetings was that plans had been made looking toward establishment, through Klan members, of political clubs in Minneapolis churches to back the candidacy of the man approved by the organization for mayor.

SHOW LENIENCY TO DEBTOR NATIONS

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 13—The great est service the United States can render to a troubled world is to show the utmost leniency to debtor nations, Senator McCumber, chairman of the finance committee declared today in a speech opening debate in the senate on the British debt settlement.

McCumber argued that the British terms were the best obtainable and that it was a great deal better to get some money moving into the United States treasury than to let the debt stand as it was in expectation of more favorable terms.

KING'S SPEECH IS READ FROM THRONE 2 HOUSES CONVENE

PRESSING FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC PROBLEMS MUST BE SOLVED

TURKEY, THE RUHR, IRELAND ARE POINTS HOLDING POTENTIAL TROUBLE

(By United Press)

London, Feb. 13—The British parliament was opened today with the reading of the king's speech from the throne and much of the traditional ceremony such as searching the cellars for a modern Guy Fawkes which perennially characterizes the reconvening of the two houses.

Pressing problems, foreign and domestic, confronting the legislators prevented in a measure some of the more elaborate speeches that sometimes mark parliament proceedings. Turkey, the Ruhr and Ireland are a few of the localities that hold potential trouble for Bonar Law's government in stormy sessions just ahead.

The labor department, His Majesty's opposition, is ready with proposals for a foreign policy which will be quite at variance with those of the government.

The present session of parliament will see David Lloyd George, former premier, inaugurate his attempt to come back. The little Welshman will be over on the opposite side of the house from many of the Tory members who supported him in the last parliament, and will have plenty of opportunity to use invective oratory for which on occasions, he is famous.

Disputing with Lloyd George for a permanent position as chief opponent of the government is Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the parliament labor party who spent the recess energetically building up his party machinery for a determined bid to establish labor's supremacy.

All parties held final caucuses last night, preparing campaigns that were launched immediately after the formal opening.

MISS FRANCIS PAPE IN RECITAL

Wisconsin Songstress Sponsored by Hostesses Mesdames Brusegaard and Krekelberg

Considering the fact that it was election day, and that the report was circulated that the singer of the afternoon was too ill to appear, there was a very good audience at the regular Musical Club program Saturday afternoon.

Although suffering with laryngitis, Miss Francis Pape of Roberts, Wis., sang ten of her program numbers, and gave one encore. In spite of serious throat trouble, some of Miss Pape's tones were so sweet that it made the audience wish to hear her when her vocal organs were in good working order. If it had not been for Miss Pape's anxiety not to disappoint her audience, she would not have tried to sing with her throat in such a condition.

Mrs. Walter F. Wieland's accompaniments made up, in some measure, for Miss Pape's affliction, as some of them were beautiful and intricate enough to be used as solos.

Mrs. J. A. Thabes added to the interest of the program by her comments on the mid-winter luncheon of the M. F. W. C., and her description of a talk on tapestry given at the Art Institute in Minneapolis.

The election of officers followed, which resulted as follows:

Mrs. A. C. Weber was elected president of the Brainerd Musical Club.

Other officers were elected as follows:

Mrs. R. A. Campbell—First vice-president.

Mrs. J. L. Frederick—Second vice-president.

Miss Anita Gould—Recording secretary.

Mrs. R. R. Gould—Corresponding secretary.

Mrs. S. Newman—Treasurer.

Mrs. Neamith Nelson—Assistant treasurer.

Mrs. E. J. Quinn, Mrs. J. M. Hayes and Mrs. W. C. Mannis—Directors for three years.

The hostesses for the club were the Mesdames Theodore Brusegaard and John Krekelberg.

FLOUR FOR GREEK RELIEF SHIP SHIPPED FROM BROOKLYN

The American Red Cross recently shipped 5,000 tons of flour and 200 bales of clothing on the Abiron. It is a part of the first requisition by Colonel W. N. Haskell who has just arrived in Athens as the director of the American Red Cross relief operations among the million or more refugees that poured into Greece from Turkish occupied territory. Much of the clothing was made by the Brooklyn and New York Chapters of the American Red Cross. Representatives of both chapters watched the loading of the ship. The picture shows Captain J. H. Claridge, Mrs. C. A. Warren, Miss Lucille McLeod, Mrs. Ether Haven and Miss E. C. Lockwood.

AMERICAN LEGION RAPIDLY ENTERTAINS

He visited the Gettysburg battlefield he had never fully appreciated until and cemetery, which brought home to him with great force, the sacrifice made by these brave men.

The Spanish American War Veterans came in for their share of praise in answering the call of their country, responding so nobly and cheerfully when needed.

The high standards of the American Legion were dwelt upon at some length by Mr. King, who outlined the goal toward which this organization is striving. The program includes better citizenship, universal education, and cleaner and better living.

Two terrible facts were brought out during the draft for men in the World War, said Mr. King. It was shown that one man out of every four was physically unfit for his country's service, and that one out of every five could not read or write. These defects in our present system the American Legion is fighting to overcome.

The Boy Scout movement was endorsed strongly by the speaker, who told of the interest in this great work that is being taken by the Legion, to the end that the youth of the country and the coming generation may have a better chance in life's battles.

The American Legion is still fighting, now their battle is for the disabled veterans, to give them the hospital attention that is their due. This program is being held up by Brigadier General Sawyer, charged Mr. King, and as an example and proof of his statement, cited the St. Cloud case, where citizens had provided land for the building of a government hospital, some time since but due to the amount of red tape nothing had been done as yet to begin the erection of the hospital.

The Legion believes that the hospital program should be speeded up. Many are in contract hospitals or in state institutions at present, their expenses being paid by the government and these patients are not getting the specialized care to which they are entitled, said Mr. King.

A part of this trouble, he stated, is due to the necessity of operating such institutions on a money-making basis. One Minnesota hospital was cited as an example, in which it was shown that the actual cost of caring for an ex-soldier, including the upkeep of the grounds and all incidental was $2.02 per day, while for this service the Government is paying $3 per day per man. It was stated that this one institution made a profit of $67,000 last year.

To show in what high regard the American Legion is held by other countries, Mr. King mentioned the big Kansas City convention, where the powers of Europe were represented by their very best men, thus paying a high tribute to America's foremost veteran's association.

The Legion has been criticised, said the speaker, for fostering the adjusted compensation bill. This measure was the outgrowth of a number of bills which congressmen put together and spoke of as a bill that would be acceptable to the Legion, but which they have never sanctioned. The organization, however, is proud of the fact that it has done much toward the passage of legislation which restricts immigration for five years, thus allowing the ex-service men to get started in positions that might otherwise be usurped by foreign labor.

At the close of the banquet all present stood with bowed heads for thirty seconds of silent prayer in memory of the soldier dead of all wars, which was followed by the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

The G. A. R. was represented by comrades, Albert Fox, J. A. Wilson, J. B. Swisher and William Mishaud. Several other members were expected but could not be present.

The Spanish American War Veterans included A. L. Mample, Carl Adams, Ezra Smith, Rev. E. A. Cooke, O. M. Risberg and Hans Anderson.

The Human Factor in Industrial Efficiency

DURING the past two years the number of accidents in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization has been reduced 80%. This splendid result has been brought about through intelligent co-operation of employees. The saving in life, efficiency, and money cannot be computed.

The fact that the Company has been able to secure whole-hearted co-operation is the reason for the complete success of the safety plan, and is a very significant fact in connection with all this Company's enterprises.

During the first year after the plan was adopted, over 97% of the safety suggestions made by employees were adopted. Mechanical safeguards were greatly extended, and a system of education was carried on whereby in numerous instances the habits of the employees were changed. Thoughtfulness was substituted for thoughtlessness.

This campaign with its remarkable achievement of 80% decrease in accidents is of definite interest to 30 million people in 10 Middle Western States.

Safety in occupation promotes efficiency of the worker at his task, and makes him a better citizen. The employee who realizes the fact that his safety is being looked after at every turn is free to give his entire attention to his duties.

In any industry the human factor is the key to efficiency. The man who is content, well paid, assured of his future, and safe from injury, may be depended upon to give his best effort to his work. He is more productive; he is more content; he is prouder of his work.

Thus by safeguarding the welfare of the worker, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) takes the initial step towards harmony within the organization, which enables the Company to produce annually a tremendous volume of petroleum products of uniform quality, which are such essential factors in promoting commercial progress and domestic happiness.

COUEISM

ANYTHING that polishes the surface while leaving the inside untouched is not for the good of that, which has a shining surface that looks well, but inside is full of filth. The world in which we live has just passed through one of the most trying periods of its history. Ten millions of men died in a world war while equally as many civilians were carried off by the dread disease, influenza. However deplorable these statistics look on paper, they were much more so in fact to the multitudes who suffered the loss of those they loved. But there was something behind all this. No effect is greater than its cause. Jealousy, commercialism running rampant, selfishness, carelessness for the world's good, and indifference to the real issues of life, these were the things that in themselves were big enough to cause the horrors of the years between 1914 and 1918.

When one looks around today there are few evidences that the attitudes to life that resulted in the World War have been changed in any significant sense. The fact is that when the war was over the lesson that it should have taught was not learned. One respects a man who, when he does wrong and suffers for it, does not whine, but when the chastisement is past goes ahead to make atonement for his folly of the past by correcting the wrongs of that past in the future upon which he is entering day by day. Not such has been the attitude of the world. It whined very much over the suffering of 1914 to 1918. It has never yet admitted that it caused that suffering by its folly and its sin. It has not yet attempted to correct the wrongs that issued in the struggle. It goes merrily on, or attempts to go merrily on, in the same old way, and movement up to stabilized conditions does not gather any significant momentum.

Many who lost their loved ones have taken up spiritualism, hoping through it to find that solace for which their hearts cry out. Others have taken up Coueism which makes no demand upon either reason or intelligence but acts as a drug upon both. It does not ask that either the wrongs of the world or of society or of the individual be corrected. It does not demand that the heart from whence come the issues of life be changed. It does not claim that it is necessary to get down to causes and remove the causes that are responsible for effects. It looks at the fire and says it is getting lower and lower every hour. This may be true, but while it is true, the building is getting lower and lower every hour and will soon be burned out.

There is nothing more subversive of correct results than something that begets a forgetfulness of the underlying trouble. Nature sends pain so that the patient may look for the removal of its cause, and merely giving an anesthetic, whether it be in the form of a liquid drug or a mental drug is always dangerous, and is unwise, as good physicians know, unless there is no hope for the patient, or during the operation that will remove the cause.

The world needs to face about. Its sickness is the result of its evils. Coueism is after the fashion of the organization that voted to build a new building, to build it of the materials of the old building, to build it on the site of the old building and to continue the use of the old building until the new building was completed. But the fact is that this could not be done. The world needs to take a careful inventory of its values and its wrongs; it needs to correct those wrongs, and when the correction has been made and righteousness and justice have become the foundations of the social order the ills of men will be removed without the use of either liquid drugs or mental drugs. And it is not always the wrong-doer who suffers most. The man who attempts to do the right thing is compelled to suffer most when wrongs are done.

Organic diseases require the services of a surgeon and the organic troubles of the social structure will not be removed by imagination but by the will to alter them.

UNITED STATES AND TURKEY

It does not seem at all probable that the United States will take a part in the vexed questions in the Near East that will involve this country in a military conflict. It is true that the United States has interests in Turkey that must be protected and citizens who must have the strength of their government behind them. But despite this, it does not seem likely that Turkey will so interfere with either our nationals or their property in such a way as to involve the United States in a war with Turkey.

There have been voices in our land that have clamored for our government to use force in dealing with the Turks. The history of this people, who have persistently abused the minorities on their borders, and particularly the Armenians whom they have almost exterminated has led to the enthusiastic demand that America deal with the Turks with a strong hand. These voices have all too often been voices of people who profess to be Christian but who have not yet learned to apply the teachings of their Master to the vexed questions that confront the world day by day. They have not yet gone beyond the conception of human relations that considers punishment meted out by nations upon a guilty nation as a means of correcting the guilty nation and passing over to it some of the suffering that it has caused others.

It was with gladness that the most of our people learned that the Department of State did not expect to use American forces in the Near East. One of the gravest reflections that has come upon the Christian church in some long time would have been brought upon it if, at the behest of the Church, our government had used the forces of the United States against the Turk on small excuse growing out of the conference at Lausanne.

There is just a danger that America may become involved in the affairs over there but any such involvement will result from Turkey taking a stand that cannot be accepted by a self-respecting nation, but it will not be in the nature of a punishment for past abuses of the rights of minorities.

The fact that America is well represented in the Near East is having a salutary effect upon a situation that has always been dangerous. The prestige of the United States and the fact that she has not been much concerned over European matters, but has now entered in, is working towards a settlement of the vexed questions that Lausanne has failed to settle. America can do a great deal towards bringing about a settlement.

OLD AGE PENSION LEGISLATION

OLD age pension legislation is highly desirable and Minnesotans will be pleased to see that such legislation has been introduced into the legislature. However, it would seem that the income is altogether too high in the bill that is before the senate. This bill would give a pension to any person whose income is under $3,000 a year and whose property does not reach a value of $5,000. To place the income so high would seem to defeat the ends of such legislation. $3,000 a year is sufficiently high to supply the need of a moderate family, and the family of anyone who has reached the age of 65 is likely to have left the nest years before the time for pensioning the father of the household.

Pensions should be provided but they should be provided for those who need them. Those who are able to provide for themselves do not need pensioning and the bill ought to be altered so that the needy alone will be served by the state.

MEN who have been claiming that they were out late nights because of jury service are to be robbed of their excuse in Minneapolis. When the wife of a man who is not on the jury calls the clerk of court she will be told that her husband is not serving and husband will have the pleasant task of finding another alibi.

LESLIE BUSH must have some idea of what it means to be a candidate for the presidency after his week in our city. We hope that the handshaking won't interfere with his delivery during the 1923 season.

Behind the packing houses and the stock yards are the millions of acres of land devoted to the raising of live stock and food for this live stock.

How live stock reaches the market; how it is purchased; how it is handled in its transformation into meat; and how this highly perishable product gets into the hands of retailers in every city and village, make an interesting story.

The handling of by-products also furnishes some interesting facts.

Should a Bank Loan Money for Advertising

by FESTUS J. WADE

President, MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY of St. Louis

WHEN we strike at advertising, meaning, of course, efficiently applied advertising, we strike at salesmanship, and the heart of business. For the banker to do anything to retard business right now is suicide.

When the merchant pulls down his shingle and waits for business to come to him in a buyers' market, we laugh at him, and call him a poor business man.

When he is forced to cut down one of his best methods of selling because his banker considers advertising an unnecessary item of expense and refuses an otherwise deserved loan purely on that principle, it is my humble opinion that we should laugh at the banker, and feel sorry for the merchant.

Don't mistake my meaning. It is a basic banking principle that a loan must be well secured, and a firm cannot borrow merely because it is a big and successful advertiser. But the fact that it is a believer in advertising and wants to use a portion of the money for that purpose should never stand in its way when it calls on the Bank's credit department.

COUEISM

ANYTHING that polishes the surface while leaving the inside untouched is not for the good of that, which has a shining surface that looks well, but inside is full of filth. The world in which we live has just passed through one of the most trying periods of its history. Ten millions of men died in a world war while equally as many civilians were carried off by the dread disease, influenza. However deplorable these statistics look on paper, they were much more so in fact to the multitudes who suffered the loss of those they loved. But there was something behind all this. No effect is greater than its cause. Jealousy, commercialism running rampant, selfishness, carelessness for the world's good, and indifference to the real issues of life, these were the things that in themselves were big enough to cause the horrors of the years between 1914 and 1918.

When one looks around today there are few evidences that the attitudes to life that resulted in the World War have been changed in any significant sense. The fact is that when the war was over the lesson that it should have taught was not learned. One respects a man who, when he does wrong and suffers for it, does not whine, but when the chastisement is past goes ahead to make atonement for his folly of the past by correcting the wrongs of that past in the future upon which he is entering day by day. Not such has been the attitude of the world. It whined very much over the suffering of 1914 to 1918. It has never yet admitted that it caused that suffering by its folly and its sin. It has not yet attempted to correct the wrongs that issued in the struggle. It goes merrily on, or attempts to go merrily on, in the same old way, and its movement up to stabilized conditions does not gather any significant momentum.

Many who lost their loved ones have taken up spiritualism, hoping through it to find that solace for which their hearts cry out. Others have taken up Coueism which makes no demand upon either reason or intelligence but acts as a drug upon both. It does not ask that either the wrongs of the world or of society or of the individual be corrected. It does not demand that the heart from whence come the issues of life be changed. It does not claim that it is necessary to get down to causes and remove the causes that are responsible for effects. It looks at the fire and says it is getting lower and lower every hour. This may be true, but while it is true, the building is getting lower and lower every hour and will soon be burned out.

There is nothing more subversive of correct results than something that begets a forgetfulness of the underlying trouble. Nature sends pain so that the patient may look for the removal of its cause, and merely giving an anesthetic, whether it be in the form of a liquid drug or a mental drug is always dangerous, and is unwise, as good physicians know, unless there is no hope for the patient, or during the operation that will remove the cause.

The world needs to face about. Its sickness is the result of its evils. Coueism is after the fashion of the organization that voted to build a new building, to build it of the materials of the old building, to build it on the site of the old building and to continue the use of the old building until the new building was completed. But the fact is that this could not be done. The world needs to take a careful inventory of its values and its wrongs; it needs to correct those wrongs, and when the correction has been made and righteousness and justice have become the foundations of the social order the ills of men will be removed without the use of either liquid drugs or mental drugs. And it is not always the wrongdoer who suffers most. The man who attempts to do the right thing is compelled to suffer most when wrongs are done.

Organic diseases require the services of a surgeon and the organic troubles of the social structure will not be removed by imagination but by the will to alter them.

UNITED STATES AND TURKEY

It does not seem at all probable that the United States will take a part in the vexed questions in the Near East that will involve this country in a military conflict. It is true that the United States has interests in Turkey that must be protected and citizens who must have the strength of their government behind them. But despite this, it does not seem likely that Turkey will so interfere with either our nationals or their property in such a way as to involve the United States in a war with Turkey.

There have been voices in our land that have clamored for our government to use force in dealing with the Turks. The history of this people, who have persistently abused the minorities on their borders, and particularly the Armenians whom they have almost exterminated has led to the enthusiastic demand that America deal with the Turks with a strong hand. These voices have all too often been voices of people who profess to be Christian but who have not yet learned to apply the teachings of their Master to the vexed questions that confront the world day by day. They have not yet gone beyond the conception of human relations that considers punishment meted out by nations upon a guilty nation as a means of correcting the guilty nation and passing over to it some of the suffering that it has caused others.

It was with gladness that the most of our people learned that the Department of State did not expect to use American forces in the Near East. One of the gravest reflections that has come upon the Christian church in some long time would have been brought upon it if, at the behest of the Church, our government had used the forces of the United States against the Turk on small excuse growing out of the conference at Lausanne.

There is just a danger that America may become involved in the affairs over there but any such involvement will result from Turkey taking a stand that cannot be accepted by a self-respecting nation, but it will not be in the nature of a punishment for past abuses of the rights of minorities.

The fact that America is well represented in the Near East is having a salutary effect upon a situation that has always been dangerous. The prestige of the United States and the fact that she has not been much concerned over European matters, but has now entered in, is working towards a settlement of the vexed questions that Lausanne has failed to settle. America can do a great deal towards bringing about a settlement.

OLD AGE PENSION LEGISLATION

OLD age pension legislation is highly desirable and Minnesotans will be pleased to see that such legislation has been introduced into the legislature. However, it would seem that the income is altogether too high in the bill that is before the senate. This bill would give a pension to any person whose income is under $3,000 a year and whose property does not reach a value of $5,000. To place the income so high would seem to defeat the ends of such legislation. $3,000 a year is sufficiently high to supply the need of a moderate family, and the family of anyone who has reached the age of 65 is likely to have left the nest years before the time for pensioning the father of the household.

Pensions should be provided but they should be provided for those who need them. Those who are able to provide for themselves do not need pensioning and the bill ought to be altered so that the needy alone will be served by the state.

MEN who have been claiming that they were out late nights because of jury service are to be robbed of their excuse in Minneapolis. When the wife of a man who is not on the jury calls the clerk of court she will be told that her husband is not serving and husband will have the pleasant task of finding another alibi.

LESLIE BUSH must have some idea of what it means to be a candidate for the presidency after his week in our city. We hope that the handshaking won't interfere with his delivery during the 1923 season.

Meat which you buy does not originate in the packing houses.

Behind the packing houses and the stock yards are the millions of acres of land devoted to the raising of live stock and food for this live stock.

How live stock reaches the market; how it is purchased; how it is handled in its transformation into meat; and how this highly perishable product gets into the hands of retailers in every city and village, make an interesting story.

The handling of by-products also furnishes some interesting facts.

Hides, for example, are not bought by the ultimate consumer.

Glue is used by manufacturers of many articles.

Wool is of little use to the wearer of clothes until it is worked up into merchantable articles.

Should a Bank Loan Money for Advertising

by FESTUS J. WADE

President, MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY of St. Louis

WHEN we strike at advertising, meaning, of course, efficiently applied advertising, we strike at salesmanship, and the heart of business. For the banker to do anything to retard business right now is suicide.

When the merchant pulls down his shingle and waits for business to come to him in a buyers' market, we laugh at him, and call him a poor business man.

When he is forced to cut down one of his best methods of selling because his banker considers advertising an unnecessary item of expense and refuses an otherwise deserved loan purely on that principle, it is my humble opinion that we should laugh at the banker, and feel sorry for the merchant.

School in West Brainerd Recipient of a Beautiful Flag From the Local G. A. R.

COMR. FOX GIVES ADDRESS

Members Woman's Relief Corps and G. A. R. Circle Also Gave Each Room a Flag and Pledge

The patriotic program given at the Riverside school in West Brainerd will be remembered by all who were present Friday evening. A large beautiful flag was presented to the school by the G. A. R., the presentation speech being made by Commander Fox. During this interesting speech the flag was held in front of the room by Mesdames Fox and Russell. And at the close, the children gave the two flag pledges.

Members of the Woman's Relief Corps and G. A. R. Circle were also present and presented each room with a flag and pledge. The patriotic instructor, Mrs. Fox, made the presentation speech, which was followed by a patriotic reading by Mrs. O'Connor. The three teachers responded with a few well chosen words of thanks.

The veterans present were Messrs. Fox, Wilson, Swisher, Austin and Edwards.

The association is indebted to George Adair for donating his services and sleigh to the veterans and ladies for the evening.

At the close of the presentation exercises, Miss Thora Ingebretsen entertained the audience by relating some of her experiences in Red Cross work abroad last year.

Fairly Warned.

Members of the faculty of one of our universities tell a story of the days when a certain distinguished educator was a tutor in charge of student discipline at a New England college—a sort of protector, apparently. On one occasion he was called out of his room by some midnight escapee. He was obliged as a matter of duty to pursue the disturber, and with his long legs he soon found himself gaining rapidly upon them. Then his solemn voice rang out suddenly into the night: "Gentlemen, gentlemen, if you don't run a little faster, I shall be obliged to overtake you!"

FIRE PREVENTION MEN HERE SOON

About 40 Members Here Wednesday to Examine Brainerd Business District

THE DATA IS TO BE COMPILED

Public Schools, Public Buildings, Business Houses to Be Given Thorough Inspection

About forty members of the State Fire Prevention Association of Minnesota will be in Brainerd on Wednesday, Feb. 14th.

Their object is to make a thorough inspection of public schools, public buildings, business houses, etc. This visit is intended to point out to all interested the various ways of preventing fires. Demonstrations and talks will be given on Wednesday evening at the Brainerd Civic & Commerce Association rooms.

These gentlemen are fully authorized from the State Fire Marshal's office at St. Paul, and each is an expert in the work. Their inspection is of an educational nature. It is of interest, not alone to the insurance companies, but to all owners of property.

Arrangements have been perfected to afford these gentlemen every facility for inspecting the schools and instructing pupils of the higher grades in fire drills and assisting teachers in presenting to the children the importance of fire prevention. Some of the experts will point out defects in electrical wiring, so that same may be remedied.

The Civic & Commerce Association will put on a luncheon in the club rooms at 6:15 Wednesday evening in honor of the visitors, who will be the guests of the local insurance men while in the city.

It is hoped that every business man in Brainerd will attend supper. If unable to be on hand at that time, all should make a special effort to attend the meeting which immediately follows in the club rooms.

Illustrations will be given by men competent to point out the vital need of fire protection in every community. Similar demonstrations and inspections have been made in other cities throughout the state and all have proven great success. Citizens in general have profited thereby.

All insurance agents of the city, City Engineer R. T. Campbell, Superintendent of School W. C. Cobb, Fire Chief H. McGinn and Chief of Police Erick Graff are holding a meeting at 5 o'clock this evening for the purpose of perfecting arrangements to facilitate the work of the visitors when they begin their inspection.

BRAINERD 16, LITTLE FALLS 22

Local High School Basketball Quint Succumbs to First Defeat of the 1923 Season

OVER-CONFIDENCE, THE CAUSE

Others State It May Have Been Running in Too Many Games for the Period of Time

Brainerd met its first defeat last night. At the hands of Little Falls the locals came out on the short end of a 22 to 16 score and died hard. This is the first beating out of eight games played and although it is a disappointment it will be a spur for the return game on the down river court.

Two years ago Brainerd staged a comeback after being beaten here by Little Falls. The old Blue and White can come back again. The locals will have a tilt with Pine River which will no doubt be light work, and then they have until February 22 to prepare for the return match.

Last night they played after a brief rest from the Crosby battle. This no doubt had its effect and although that is no excuse for our recent loss, the team will be a great deal fresher. The Little Falls was a highly defensive one. Little Falls' guarding was wonderful, compelling the locals to make all their trips from the middle of the floor.

During the second half Brainerd's defensive broke, letting the down river quint get under our baskets. With a little practice with long shots and working up our defensive again, Brainerd can show different results on Washington's birthday. We can win from Little Falls and we will.

Every man fought well, some not up to their old form, but no one man can be pointed out as the jinx of the team.

Brainerd started out with a 6 to 6 score and wound up the first half with a tied tally. They fell behind early in the second half, and although a desperate attempt to even the score was made, the whistle caught them 6 points behind their opponents.

C. H. BARNES OF DULUTH TO SPEAK

Appears at Civic and Commerce Association Rooms, Auspices League of Women Voters

CO. SUPT. ST. LOUIS CO. SCHOOLS

Mr. Barnes will Discuss Educational Bill that the League is Backing in Legislature

On Tuesday evening, February 20th, C. H. Barnes, of Duluth, will give a talk in the Civic & Commerce Association parlors under the auspices of the educational committee of the League of Women Voters, of which Miss Mary Walsh is chairman.

Mr. Barnes is county superintendent of the famous St. Louis county. In the year 1920 Minnesota spent $3,358,555 on her public schools, and twenty-four per cent of that amount nearly one fourth was spent in St. Louis county. This seems a very unfair arrangement and the educational bill that the League of Women Voters is backing, which is now before the legislature, aims to distribute state aid more equitably. Mr. Barnes will discuss this bill, but he will also tell of some of the educational experiments that they have been able to try out in St. Louis county because of having plenty of funds. Some of these have been found so desirable that they have been incorporated in the educational bill. Every tax payer should be interested in finding out how the money he is paying for school taxes is spent. This is your opportunity. Mr. Barnes will no doubt willingly answer any questions that you wish to ask concerning the bill soon to be voted upon in the legislature, in so far, at least, as its provisions are based upon the experience of St. Louis county.

There will also be music and opportunity for discussion. The musical numbers will be announced later.

Let those who have been criticizing the League of Women Voters for having so many after dinner talkers, instead of free lectures, prove their contention that it is possible to get people to come to hear a good speech without baiting them with a dinner, by seeing that Mr. Barnes has a capacity house.

MEN HERE SOON

About 40 Members Here Wednesday to Examine Brainerd Business District

THE DATA AS TO BE COMPILED

Public Schools, Public Buildings, Business Houses to Be Given Thorough Inspection

About forty members of the State Fire Prevention Association of Minnesota will be in Brainerd on Wednesday, Feb. 14th.

Their object is to make a thorough inspection of public schools, public buildings, business houses, etc. This visit is intended to point out to all interested the various ways of preventing fires. Demonstrations and talks will be given on Wednesday evening at the Brainerd Civic & Commerce Association rooms.

These gentlemen are fully authorized from the State Fire Marshal's office at St. Paul, and each is an expert in the work. Their inspection is of an educational nature. It is of interest, not alone to the insurance companies, but to all owners of property.

Arrangements have been perfected to afford these gentlemen every facility for inspecting the schools and instructing pupils of the higher grades in fire drills and assisting teachers in presenting to the children the importance of fire prevention. Some of the experts will point out defects in electrical wiring, so that same may be remedied.

The Civic & Commerce Association will put on a luncheon in the club rooms at 6:15 Wednesday evening in honor of the visitors, who will be the guests of the local insurance men while in the city.

It is hoped that every business man in Brainerd will attend supper. If unable to be on hand at that time, all should make a special effort to attend the meeting which immediately follows in the club rooms.

Illustrations will be given by men competent to point out the vital need of fire protection in every community. Similar demonstrations and inspections have been made in other cities throughout the state and all have proven great success. Citizens in general have profited thereby.

All insurance agents of the city, City Engineer R. T. Campbell, Superintendent of School W. C. Cobb, Fire Chief H. McGinn and Chief of Police Erick Graff are holding a meeting at 5 o'clock this evening for the purpose of perfecting arrangements to facilitate the work of the visitors when they begin their inspection.

Local High School Basketball Quint Succumbs to First Defeat of the 1923 Season

OVER-CONFIDENCE, THE CAUSE

Others State It May Have Been Running in Too Many Games for the Period of Time

(By W. G.)

Brainerd met its first defeat last night. At the hands of Little Falls the locals came out on the short end of a 22 to 16 score and died hard. This is the first beating out of eight games played and although it is a disappointment it will be a spur for the return game on the down river court.

Two years ago Brainerd staged a comeback after being beaten here by Little Falls. The old Blue and White can come back again. The locals will have a tilt with Pine River which will no doubt be light work, and then they have until February 22 to prepare for the return match.

Last night they played after a brief rest from the Crosby battle. This no doubt had its effect and although that is no excuse for our recent loss, the team will be a great deal fresher. The battle with Little Falls was a highly defensive one. Little Falls' guarding was wonderful, compelling the locals to make all their trips from the middle of the floor.

During the second half Brainerd's defensive broke, letting the down river quint get under our baskets. With a little practice with long shots and working up our defensive again, Brainerd can show different results on Washington's birthday. We can win from Little Falls and we will.

Every man fought well, some not up to their old form, but no one man can be pointed out as the jinx of the team.

Brainerd started out with a 6 to 6 score and wound up the first half with a tied tally. They fell behind early in the second half, and although a desperate attempt to even the score was made, the whistle caught them 6 points behind their opponents.

C. H. BARNES OF DULUTH TO SPEAK

CO. SUPT. ST. LOUIS CO. SCHOOLS

Mr. Barnes will Discuss Educational Bill that the League is Backing in Legislature

(Contributed)
On Tuesday evening, February 20th, C. H. Barnes, of Duluth, will give a talk in the Civic & Commerce Association parlors under the auspices of the educational committee of the League of Women Voters, of which Miss Mary Walsh is chairman.

Mr. Barnes is county superintendent of the famous St. Louis county. In the year 1920 Minnesota spent $3,358,555 on her public schools, and twenty-four per cent of that amount nearly one fourth was spent in St. Louis county. This seems a very unfair arrangement and the educational bill that the League of Women Voters is backing, which is now before the legislature, aims to distribute state aid more equitably. Mr. Barnes will discuss this bill, but he will also tell of some of the educational experiments that they have been able to try out in St. Louis county because of having plenty of funds. Some of these have been found so desirable that they have been incorporated in the educational bill. Every tax payer should be interested in finding out how the money he is paying for school taxes is spent. This is your opportunity. Mr. Barnes will no doubt willingly answer any questions that you wish to ask concerning the bill soon to be voted upon in the legislature, in so far, at least, as its provisions are based upon the experience of St. Louis county.

There will also be music and opportunity for discussion. The musical numbers will be announced later.

Let those who have been criticizing the League of Women Voters for having so many after dinner talkers, instead of free lectures, prove their contention that it is possible to get people to come to hear a good speech without baiting them with a dinner, by seeing that Mr. Barnes has a capacity house.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Feb. 13—Out of the $750,000 which the New York Yankees have invested in eight years in baseball players, $500,000 was wasted, according to "Cap" Huston, part owner of the club.

The "Cap" probably means that $500,000 worth of ball players turned out to be no good.

From the experience some of the other clubs have had, however, the Yanks were fortunate in cashing in on one-third of their investments the way they have cashed in.

The way high priced ball players have of failing to live up to their price tag has finally brought magnates to the point where they have adopted a policy against spending huge sums for players.

John McGraw and Huston, two of the greatest spenders in the business, say they will never put out another fortune for players and when they stop spending, the spending will stop.

McGraw has coming up next season, Jimmy O'Connell, a young outfielder from California, for whom he paid $75,000. If he turns out to be as good a ball player as Pep Young, for whom McGraw paid $2,000, his boss probably will be satisfied. He cannot aspire to be better than Tris Speaker, who cost $500 when he came up.

Willie Kamm, a $125,000 third baseman, is coming up next season to the White Sox. Young Kamm will be doing fine in five years if he is as good a ball player as Frankie Frisch, who cost the Giants his car fare from the Bronx.

Several other high priced young players are to make their debut next spring. If there is one Cobb, Speaker, Sisler, Hornsby, Schaik or Alexander, the combined cost of whom wouldn't tempt a minor league owner now, in the bunch, the money will be well spent.

But there won't be. As the club owners are getting off the big spending idea they are also getting away from trades. This off season has been one of the slimmest of years for deals.

Only one swap of any importance has been made so far and that took Rip Collins and Del Pratt to the Detroit Tigers from the Boston Red Sox, for Ehmke, Hollings and Herman.

The Braves were in on a little deal when they sent Walter Holke to the Phils and Tris Speaker did a little maneuvering by trading Doc Evans to the Senators for Frank Brower.

Most magnates will not trade unless they figure they are getting the better of the deal and it becomes less and less frequent that both parties to a trade think they are putting one over on the other one.

Spending big dough for players also puts ideas about salaries in the boys' minds that the magnates don't like to have there.

A $75,000 outfielder might not be blamed if he thought his services worth $3,500 a year and he should not be blamed for the way he feels when he learns what his services are valued at by the club owner.

In twenty years, when the magnates get together and rehearse their folly of the earlier days when they spent large sums for players, Squire Ebbets can desert the group and say: "I'm no fool. I was a wise guy. I never paid a cent for a player."

And a Flatbush fan might add—"You never had one."

Would you like to hear of the "Dorothy Phillips Test," which can be used as a serious estimate of your screen capabilities, or can be utilized as a means of creating a great deal of mirth?

Miss Phillips has compiled a list of more than sixty expressions that can be used on the screen. Here they are:

Anger, affection, admiration, abomination, amazement, anticipation, bashfulness, boldness, benevolence, calculation, coquetry, contrition, compassion, cynicism, defiance, demureness, disappointment, desire, dislike, enlightenment, excitement, envy, fear, grief, greed, gladness, glee, hope, horror, indecision, inspiration, interest, joy, lust, laughter, love, melancholy, pleasure, pain, pathos, pity, repugnance, reverence, rapture, respect, self-reliance, scorn, shame, sympathy, surprise, suspicion, sorrow, superiority, toleration, tenderness, tears, terror, trust, veneration and yearning.

If you think you can act, try these before your mirror. If you don't laugh at yourself, better not buy your ticket for Hollywood, but call in your friends and show them how you do it. If you have a good disposition you will be able to swallow the caustic remarks that your "performance" will inspire. If you want some expert coaching, study the list of expressions prepared by Miss Phillips and then see her in Allen Holubar's production of "Hurricane's Gal," a First National attraction, to be shown at the New Park on Wednesday and Thursday.

At the Lyceum

"Just Around the Corner," a beautiful story of New York's East Side tenement district written by Fannie Hurst, picturized by Cosmopolitan Productions for Paramount, proved a thoroughly enjoyable feature at the Lyceum theatre yesterday and will be shown again tonight. The theme has to do with the trials of a poor family, a mother, son and daughter, and of their ultimate triumph.

There are numerous thrilling scenes and on the whole, the production is one of exceptional massiveness. The principal roles are admirably portrayed by Margaret Seddon, Lewis Sargent, Sigrid Holmquist and Fred C. Thompson.

Musical Comedy in Its Entirety Shown in Film "After the Show"

Holt, Lila Lee and Charles Ogle, and a chorus of more than fifty young women appear in the scenes.

Several weeks were spent by Mr. de Mille in the direction of the chorus and stage hands who appear in the theatre set. The story deals with a young actress who is guarded by a stern door keeper and whose protegee she is. When love enters her life, many dramatic scenes ensue, combining to make one of the most thrilling pictures displayed here this season.

The story was written by Rita Weiman especially for Mr. de Mille. Lila Lee plays the leading female role, while Charles Ogle, the veteran character, asserts that his role is the greatest human interest part he has played in his career. Jack Holt plays the part of the angel—not the kind that wears wings—but the other sort that backs stage productions. The support is adequate.

Embraced by Monkey.

A horrible experience befell a letter carrier's wife of Babylon, N. Y., when a monkey dropped on her shoulders from a tree and embraced her. She was riding in her surrey through a lonely stretch of road, between Babylon and Lindenhurst when something dropped as if from the sky and landed on the seat beside her. When hairy arms encircled her neck she screamed and an unidentified rabbit hunter appeared on the scene and shot the monkey. The dead monkey was brought back to Babylon, where the woman will have it stuffed as a memento of her unusual experience. The monkey is believed to have escaped from a ship off the coast near Babylon.

What It Would Be.

The teacher was trying to make clear to a bad boy of the class the meaning of the term "accidental death." "Suppose," said she, "that in passing over a rotten bridge the mayor of the town should tumble into the river and be drowned—what would you call that?" "We would call it a holiday the next day," answered the bad boy.

Spending big dough for players also puts ideas about salaries in the boys' minds that the magnates don't like to have there.

A $75,000 outfielder might not be blamed if he thought his services worth $3,500 a year and he should not be blamed for the way he feels when he learns what his services are valued at by the club owner.

In twenty years, when the magnates get together and rehearse their folly of the earlier days when they spent large sums for players, Squire Ebbets can desert the group and say: "I'm no fool. I was a wise guy. I never paid a cent for a player."

And a Flatbush fan might add—"You never had one."

AMUSEMENTS

Try This Before Trying the Studios

Movie fans attention.

Would you like to hear of the "Dorothy Phillips Test," which can be used as a serious estimate of your screen capabilities, or can be utilized as a means of creating a great deal of mirth?

Miss Phillips has compiled a list of more than sixty expressions that can be used on the screen. Here they are:

Anger, affection, admiration, abomination, amazement, anticipa-

tion, bashfulness, boldness, benevolence, calculation, coquetry, contrition, compassion, cynicism, defiance, demureness, disappointment, desire, dislike, enlightenment, excitement, envy, fear, grief, greed, gladness, glee, hope, horror, indecision, inspiration, interest, joy, lust, laughter, love, melancholy, pleasure, pain, pathos, pity, repugnance, reverence, rapture, respect, self-reliance, scorn, shame, sympathy, surprise, suspicion, sorrow, superiority, toleration, tenderness, tears, terror, trust, veneration and yearning.

If you think you can act, try these before your mirror. If you don't laugh at yourself, better not buy your ticket for Hollywood, but call in your friends and show them how you do it. If you have a good disposition you will be able to swallow the caustic remarks that your "performance" will inspire. If you want some expert coaching, study the list of expressions prepared by Miss Phillips and then see her in Allen Holubar's production of "Hurricane's Gal," a First National attraction, to be shown at the New Park on Wednesday and Thursday.

At the Lyceum

"Just Around the Corner," a beautiful story of New York's East Side tenement district written by Fannie Hurst, pictured by Cosmopolitan Productions for Paramount, proved a thoroughly enjoyable feature at the Lyceum theatre yesterday and will be shown again tonight. The theme has to do with the trials of a poor family, a mother, son and daughter, and of their ultimate triumph.

There are numerous thrilling scenes and on the whole, the production is one of exceptional massiveness. The principal roles are admirably portrayed by Margaret Seddon, Lewis Sargent, Sigrid Holmquist and Fred C. Thompson.

Musical Comedy in Its Entirety Shown in Film "After the Show"

Holt, Lila Lee and Charles Ogle, and a chorus of more than fifty young women appear in the scenes.

Several weeks were spent by Mr. de Mille in the direction of the chorus and stage hands who appear in the theatre set. The story deals with a young actress who is guarded by a stern door keeper and whose protegee she is. When love enters her life, many dramatic scenes ensue, combining to make one of the most thrilling pictures displayed here this season.

The story was written by Rita Weiman especially for Mr. de Mille. Lila Lee plays the leading female role, while Charles Ogle, the veteran character, asserts that his role is the greatest human interest part he has played in his career. Jack Holt plays the part of the angel—not the kind that wears wings—but the other sort that backs stage productions. The support is adequate.

Embraced by Monkey.

A hostile experience befell a letter carrier's wife of Babylon, N. Y., when a monkey dropped on her shoulders from a tree and embraced her. She was riding in her surrey through a lonely stretch of road, between Babylon and Lindenhurst when something dropped as if from the sky and landed on the seat beside her. When hairy arms encircled her neck she screamed and an unidentified rabbit hunter appeared on the scene and shot the monkey. The dead monkey was brought back to Babylon, where the woman will have it stuffed as a memento of her unusual experience. The monkey is believed to have escaped from a ship off the coast near Babylon.

What It Would Be.

The teacher was trying to make clear to a bad boy of the class the meaning of the term "accidental death." "Suppose," said she, "that in passing over a rotten bridge the mayor of the town should tumble into the river and be drowned—what would you call that?" "We would call it a holiday the next day," answered the bad boy.

Black Magic.

The story has just leaked out of a local colored fellow who paid a dollar during the Elk carnival to have his fortune told. The lady told him that he loved chicken, that he had won some money on craps and that he had been in jail. The fellow gasped and said: "Mah goodness, lady; you has told my inmost thoughts."—Pratt (Kan.) Republican.

Why Sparrow Thrives.

The sparrow is bold, hardy, crafty; it will eat anything, live anywhere. It has several broods a year. It is like some of the weeds among plants, like the rat among mammals. It fits the conditions in which it lives. It survives and multiplies where other birds barely hold their own, because it is the fittest to survive in the conditions in which it lives.

Sorry She Spoke.

While going to visit my girl friend's home, to which I had never been, I had a strange experience. *She came to the car to meet me and the first house we came to I said: "For heaven's sake, who lives in this little barn?" She led me into the house. It was her home.—Exchange.

Prejudged.

"Folks dat we don't know, but jes' hear about," said Uncle Eben, "allus seems a heap better or a heap wuss dan whut dey is."—Washington Star.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY SKIN

Irritation and Breaking Out Often Healed Over Night, Says Skin Specialist

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.—Adv.
